Welcome!

Do you find soap swappers fun, or do you think everyone should just stick to their own patch?

I'm talking about actors who make a splash in one soap, then later turn up in another – meaning you have to put aside the dramas you saw them endure initially, reset yourself, and prepare for a whole new journey. If the actor is talented and the new drama is intriguing, it can work – but sometimes you're never able to shake off their previous character.

“Do you find soap swappers fun?”

So it'll be interesting to see how two soap swappers fare this week. Louis Emerick, best known as Brookie nice guy Mick Johnson, will be arriving in Corrie as Liz's new love interest – and has already been given a warm welcome since starting filming (see p12). Meanwhile, ex-cobbles star Ryan Thomas is in Erinsborough as Rafael, a mysterious character with hidden depths – something you could never accuse nice-but-dim Jason Grimshaw of!

Banned Max's funeral fury!

LOCKED OUT OF ABI'S
FINAL GOODBYE, CAN HE CONVINCE HIS FAMILY
TO LET HIM PAY HIS RESPECTS?

It falls to Lauren to tell her dad that Abi's funeral has already taken place

Mick takes Max's keys and gives it to him straight

Grief-stricken Max is left further devastated this week – as bitter Tanya bans him from attending their daughter Abi's funeral service.

Although Tanya and her former husband had a brief moment of reconciliation when they turned off Abi's life-support machine, she still blames Max for their little girl's death, and can't bear to be around him. Meanwhile, Max has had no contact with his ex since that terrible day, and he's left confused after he can't get a straight answer about what's going on with Abi's funeral arrangements. So when he goes on to question his other daughter Lauren, she delivers a crushing blow...

"Lauren tells Max that Abi's funeral has already happened, and he wasn't invited!" explains our Albert Square informant. "He just can't take that in. The idea that Abi

"To think that Tanya could be so cruel is shocking for Max" could be laid to rest and he wasn't there is unthinkable to Max. No matter what happened between them all, Tanya let him be present to hold Abi's hand as she slipped away. To think she'd be so cruel as to bury their daughter without him is too shocking for Max to believe."

DRIVEN TO DESTRUCTION?

The next day, Max is in a terrible state as he demands that Lauren go over the story again. He's been drinking to numb the pain – and after his eldest gives him a few harsh home truths, Max heads off to speak to Jay at the undertakers'.

Jay tries to be professional, but when he refuses to tell Max where Abi is buried, the frantic fella grabs his car keys with the intention of driving off to find her grave. Fortunately for Jay, Mick is on hand to step in and stop Max in his tracks...

"Max may not like what Mick has to say, but he'll certainly be given food for thought," teases our insider. "He's lost in his own fears and remorse over what's happened, and it could just take someone who's not closely involved to give him a bit of perspective on all this."

FRAGILE TRUCE

Lauren is stunned when her dad later turns up and explains that he understands why they held Abi's funeral without him, and he's going away for a bit. She never expected him to be contrite – but after Max asks for details about the memorial, Lauren is tongue-tied. She can't seem to offer a clear picture of what happened when the family laid Abi to rest... and it's not long before Max realises why.

"Lauren is lying – the funeral hasn't actually happened yet!" reveals our snitch. "She's been trying to find a way to make

The floral tribute to Abi is beautiful – but will Max wreck the day?

“Lauren can't bear the thought of Max upsetting things”

“I was really scared about leaving!”

Lauren contemplates a fresh start – and it's a new beginning for star Jacqueline Jossa, too...

Lauren has some big decisions to make this week, as she considers starting a new life away from Walford.

The poor girl is in pieces following Abi's death – but she's determined to live her life to the full from now on. Before the sisters' tragic fall happened, Lauren and her boyfriend Josh were planning a move up to Scotland, where he was taking on a new job. Loyal Josh has stayed by Lauren's side throughout the horror of the past few weeks, and is totally devoted to her and little Louie – but as we near Jacqueline Jossa's final scenes, will Lauren head off into the sunset with her fella?

It's not just Lauren facing the future, however – for Jac, the prospect of leaving EastEnders after eight years of playing Lauren was a daunting one.

"When they told me their plans, I was really scared," she admits. "Getting a job on a soap is a very comforting thing for an actress because it's regular work. So once I realised that was being taken away, it did worry me."

"I had my suspicions that something might be going on, though, because of the way my storylines were heading," adds Jacqueline. "So I asked for a meeting to

"Tanya has told her that Max isn't welcome, and so Lauren has taken it upon herself to intervene," continues our mole. "She is finding it hard to cope, and can't bear the thought of Max upsetting things further at the church. It's just another example of how much this war between Max and Tanya has messed up everyone involved."

SAYING GOODBYE

After he discovers the truth, Max hits the bottle again. He keeps demanding the details of the funeral – and Lauren warns him that if he shows up, she'll leave his life for good.

On the day of the funeral, the Brannings – including Jack, Lauren and Cora – are all in attendance. Left out in the cold, Max is desperate to say his goodbyes as well, so will drama erupt at Abi's final send-off?

After being given the bad news, Jac at least had a little time to wrap her head around the fact that she was leaving. That didn't make filming her final episodes any easier, though...

"It was a lot sadder than I thought it would be," she tells us. "My last scene was with Jake Wood [Max] – and thankfully I was supposed to be crying, because I couldn't stop the tears from coming! The hardest part is leaving the character and my friends."

Luckily, Jacqueline has something to keep her busy over the coming months, as "I was trying hard to be secretive, but Jo [Joyner, who plays Tanya] guessed while we were filming that episode," giggles the star. "We were standing in the rain and she said, 'It's a good job no one is pregnant' – then looked straight at me! I wasn't planning on telling anyone, but she caught me off guard and I ended up confessing everything!"

Harriet isn't stupid, and notices something between Laurel and Bob...

I love you, Laurel!

AS BOB MAKES HIS CHOICE, WHERE DOES IT LEAVE BRENDA?

...so when she finally learns the truth, Harriet issues Bob an ultimatum

EMMERDALE | ITV TUESDAY

It looks as if poor Brenda is heading for even more heartbreak this week, as her fiancé Bob declares his love for his secret fling Laurel!

The two-timing rat had resolved to forget their naughty night ever happened, before pledging his commitment to Brenda and asking her to marry him again. However, as his betrayal is uncovered by another villager this week, it forces Bob to realise which woman he wants to be with...

"Bob is hedging his bets and keeping his options open!" despairs actor Tony Audenshaw, who plays him. "He thinks that Laurel has feelings for him, but he doesn't know how deep they run. So he says that he wants her just to see if there is anything there to hang around for!"

The drama unfolds when suspicious Harriet cottons on to the closeness between Bob and Laurel, and challenges her mate on it. After some prodding, the truth comes tumbling out as Laurel buckles under the weight of her sordid secret – and she even goes so far as to admit that she still has feelings for Bob.

"Initially, Bob is completely unaware Laurel has blabbed, as they'd agreed not to tell anyone," shares Tony. "If word gets out, World War III would ensue, and everything would be terrible! So when Laurel later comes to him and confesses that she's told Harriet, he thinks the cat is out of the bag."

"What's interesting, though, is that Harriet tells Bob that he needs to make a decision," continues the actor. "It's pressure from her that causes him to have a bit of a wobble and a breakdown."

After Harriet encourages Bob to come clean to Brenda about the identity of his mystery woman, Bob freaks out and disappears from the village. Meanwhile, Brenda is beside herself with worry as she reaches the conclusion that her man has walked out on her for good.

"Bob needs to get away from Emmerdale, so he goes to stay in a country pub somewhere in the north of England," explains Tony. "He thought that he could do what Harriet suggests and tell Brenda everything, but ultimately it would be terrible

Brenda has no idea what's really going on inside Bob's head

Meanwhile, Laurel is forced to do some major soul-searching in the wake of Bob's disappearance, and turns to the home videos of her late husband Ashley. However, just as she reaches a segment where Ashley is advising her on the next man she ends up with, adamant Bob flounces in and declares his love!

“I think Bob does love Brenda, and he proposed to her because he thought it was the right thing to do,” sighs Tony. “With Laurel, it was a different sort of love that they shared at first – more as friends – but now I think he is properly falling for her a little bit.”

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

Will Craig's obsession cost him Bethany?

AS THE TEEN IS GRIPPED BY HIS OCD, HIS GIRLFRIEND THINKS HE DOESN'T CARE...

Craig's battle with his obsessive compulsive disorder lands him in bother with girlfriend Bethany this week – after he manages to get her sacked from her lap-dancing job.

Not only does he infuriate Bethany, Craig also annoys his police colleague Jess. As the teen's stress increases, so do his OCD symptoms, which see him forced to perform certain 'rituals' every time he leaves his home. And that leads to big trouble when Bethany gives him one chance to make things up to her...

"Craig is meant to meet Bethany, but everything goes wrong," admits Colson Smith, who plays Craig. "The phone is ringing, so he loses track of his ritual of only leaving the house when the clock reads an even number. He realises he's missed the date with Bethany, but he has to get back into his ritual because he just can't stop doing it."

Craig is left in a state after a showdown with fellow copper Jess Craig's panic begins to take hold after a visit from Jess, who turns up to talk about the trouble at the club – and she's far from impressed with him.

"Jess says that Craig has taken advantage of his position by interfering at Bethany's club," explains

Colson. "She claims that bending the rules is how Neil – the officer who raped Bethany – started out on his dark path. That's not what Craig thinks he's doing at all, and it really throws him. So he has to start all of his rituals over again, because he feels Craig thinks that he's keeping Bethany safe – he feels it's normal"

Craig has to think fast when little Liam finds him performing rituals like something bad is going to happen to Bethany because of what he's done."

Craig is further mortified when Maria's son Liam finds him desperately checking light switches all over the flat. But as Craig tries to placate the lad, he just makes everything worse.

"Craig is relying on Liam to keep quiet about what he's seen," sighs Colson. "He tries to brush it off by telling Liam that by doing what he's doing, he's keeping people safe. Craig means in his head – but Liam takes it to mean that Craig is a superhero. So Craig ends up going along with the idea that he has magical powers!"

Meanwhile, Bethany is waiting for Craig at the Bistro, convinced she's been stood up because of the way she's been treating him. But as he calls to say sorry, is Craig any closer to confessing the real reason he failed to turn up?

"Craig is trying hard to impress Bethany, and be there for her," shares Colson. "She's the person he cares most about in the world – so if anyone were to find out his secret, it would really concern him, as he thinks that he's keeping Bethany safe. He feels that what he's doing is completely normal..."

Allison Jones

"I want to help get rid of the stigma!"

Colson is keen to represent real-life OCD sufferers...

What first prompted Craig's obsessive compulsive disorder?

The starting point was when Nathan was up in court and Craig saw the dead body of Lara on the railway tracks. Craig was expecting it to be Bethany, who'd gone missing, but he still wasn't prepared for what he found. Later, Craig had to give evidence at Nathan's trial and got a time wrong while being questioned – which began his obsession with 24-hour clocks and the time.

What research have you done for the storyline?

The production team introduced me to a real-life OCD sufferer called Richard. It was very emotional to hear everything he'd been through, and how it affects his day-to-day life. I asked Richard lot of questions because I wanted Craig's OCD to come across as realistic, so it was really helpful speaking to him.

What are you hoping this storyline might achieve?

I want to do the storyline justice for people who suffer from OCD, and help get rid of the stigma by helping others understand the condition, and raise awareness of it. Hopefully anyone watching who recognises the symptoms that Craig has can speak to someone, or be pointed in the right direction.

NEW LOVE FOR LIZ!

Ex-Brookside star Louis Emerick is to play her fancy man...

Feast your eyes on the handsome fella set to put a twinkle back in Liz McDonald's eye!

Mike Thornberry – a former school teacher of Liz's son, Steve – will turn up in the Rovers next month and take a shine to his ex-pupil's mother. And soap fans will recognise actor Louis Emerick, who is best known for playing Mick Johnson in Brookside...

"I'm chuffed to bits to be joining the cast of Corrie," enthuses the star. "I first appeared on the cobbles in 1986 as a delivery man – it's only taken me 32 years to be invited back! I can't wait to start working alongside Simon [Gregson, who plays Steve] and Beverley [Callard, aka Liz], who I have known for years. It's going to be a lot of fun."

Star Beverley has already taken to Twitter to express her excitement on the casting, having confessed to Inside Soap in a previous interview that she'd love Liz to get a new man. Her co-star Simon has also given his old mate Louis the thumbs up on social media, but what will Steve make of his mum's new romance?

"Steve is very unimpressed when Liz starts flirting with Mike – and is horrified when she suggests that he offer his old teacher a job at Streetcars!" reveals our cobbles insider. "The idea of him giving his mum private tuition of a different kind is a thought that Steve would rather not process!"

Louis played Mick in Brookie from 1989 to 2001, with big storylines such as Mick being stalked by Jenny Swift, and a euthanasia plot that saw his character help mother-in-law Gladys to die. The actor has already commenced filming on Corrie, and will make his cobbles debut next month.

LIFE IS ROSIE FOR AIDAN?

Could a new romance be on the cards for Rosie and Aidan? It certainly appears so from these sneaky pictures!

Our Weatherfield spy spotted stars Helen Flanagan and Shayne Ward filming some scenes out on location recently, in which their characters looked to be getting very cosy indeed. Considering the pair have barely crossed paths before now, it seems odd that they would be meeting at a fancy restaurant – so could love rat Aidan be about to add another notch to his bedpost? EILEEN DESTROYS PHELAN?

The end is nigh for the cold-blooded murderer...

Time is officially running out for cobbles killer Pat Phelan – and it could be his own wife who finally brings him down!

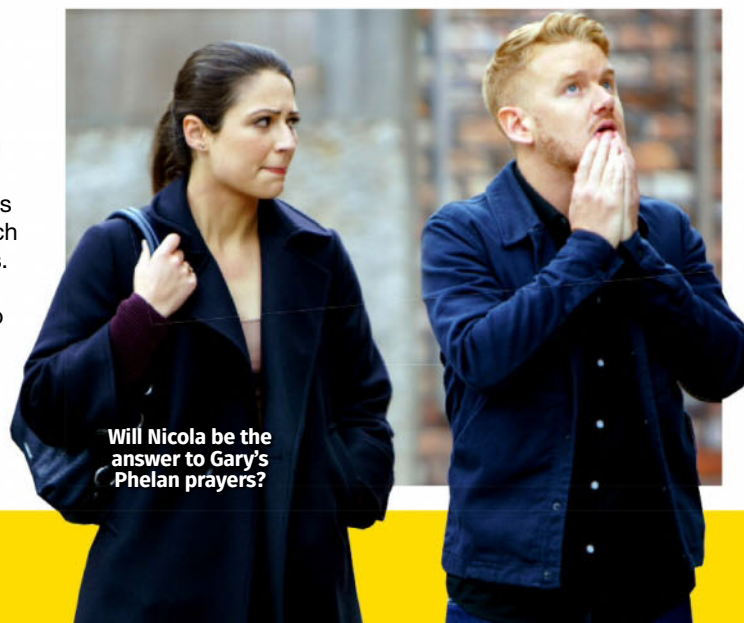

Corrie producer Kate Oates has confirmed that the Weatherfield villain will get his comeuppance later this year, and that his nearest and dearest will be the ones who see justice served...

"2018 is going to see the demise of Phelan," teases Kate. "Connor [McIntyre] is so up for this challenge. He's so excited about it and he's playing it brilliantly."

"What I like about Phelan's downfall is that it's very much to do with Eileen," she adds. "It's to do with her realising who she's married. It's to do with Nicola and that child. You've got the high drama balanced out with the emotional family domestic drama, which is when I think Corrie is at its best."

Phelan has several deaths on his conscience already – but could there be more bloodshed before the builder pays for his crimes? According to Street favourite Mikey North, who plays Phelan's arch-nemesis Gary Windass, there's still a lot of drama to come before the storyline reaches its conclusion.

"I know that this is the beginning of the end, but we've still got a few more months to run on it yet," said the actor recently. "I'm not sure it's set in stone how Phelan's demise is going to happen. But the viewing figures are great, and it's got people talking about it, hasn't it?"

Will Nicola be the answer to Gary's Phelan prayers?

CORONATION STREET

Shock Corrie headlines such as 'Hillman back from the dead!' and 'Phelan's next victim!' describe just a few of the sensational stories to shake up Weatherfield in recent weeks – but none of them have come close to causing as big a stir as the news we're about to report on!

ITV chiefs announced recently that the show's new set – which is currently in the process of being expanded – is set to feature real-life retailers Co-op Food and Costa Coffee. When word got out, the press and some fans were quick to wonder what would happen to the likes of small business owners Roy, Dev and Norris, whose respective café and convenience stores would likely be crushed by their rivals.

However, fear not – Inside Soap can happily confirm that the hype is nowt but a storm in a coffee cup...

"The Co-op and Costa branches in Weatherfield have always been there – you've just never seen them before!" explains our source. "Yes, the stores will become part of the bigger set and will be new to viewers, but for our characters nothing will change. The likes of Roy and Dev aren't suddenly going to face fresh competition, because for them it's always been there. Coronation Street isn't the only road in the area!"

"Incorporating product placement on this scale is something we have wanted to do for some time, and we're delighted with this exciting opportunity," adds ITV Commercial Sales Director Mark Trinder. "We've worked closely with the Corrie team to make sure we've got a great brand fit for Co-op and Costa Coffee with the nation's favourite soap, while still ensuring editorial integrity."

Sienna worries that she won't be around for Joel

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 TUESDAY

The battle for Joel!

SIENNA AND CLEO BOTH TRY TO WIN HIS HEART...

Joel finds himself in the enviable position of having two women fighting over him this week – but sadly for him, one of them is bonkers Sienna, and the other is a McQueen!

Although Joel and Sienna have been an item for weeks, Cleo is determined to win back her ex. So will Joel reunite with her and break Sienna's heart?

"As far as Joel is concerned, his romance with Cleo is dead," explains Rory Douglas-Speed, who plays the ex-priest. "He tried fighting for her a few times, but she kept throwing it back in his face. I think deep down he must still feel something for Cleo, because he had so much love for her. He's with Sienna now, though, and things are pretty serious."

Joel has been Sienna's rock as she's undergone her cancer treatment, and he's also been playing daddy to her son Sebastian – who happens to be his half-brother! And to make the situation even more crazy, Sienna tries to set him up on a date with her former stepmum Maxine this week...

"It sounds insane when you say it like that," chuckles Rory. "But Sienna's nervous that she won't make it through her cancer treatment, and she's worried about what will happen to Joel and Sebastian once she's gone. She thinks that Maxine is a great mum, so she tries to matchmake her and Joel – it's very funny!"

Meanwhile, Joel learns from Brody that Cleo is planning to visit Pete Buchanan, the man who abused her. He's on day release from jail – but Joel is determined to stop Cleo from going anywhere near him.

"Joel rushes off to find her," Rory tells us. "He still cares about Cleo, even if it's just as a friend. He can't watch somebody he cares about make such a horrible mistake."

Whether or not Joel can talk sense into Cleo remains to be seen. However, she takes his actions as proof he still loves her – and vows to win him back!

"Cleo calls Joel and tells him that her car has broken down," reveals Rory. "But it turns out she's smashed it up herself, just to get his attention! That tips Joel over the edge and they have a bust-up. He's sick of all the mind games."

In that case, we think Joel's picked the wrong women! Little does he know that Cleo has told Sienna that she's planning

“Joel is tipped over the edge – he's sick of all the mind games”

Cleo had a front-row seat to Joel and Sienna getting together to steal her man – and both women are willing to fight dirty.

Rory won't be drawn on who wins this battle, but he does tell us that Joel's arguments with Cleo are good for his real-life romance with co-star Nadine Mulkerrin, who plays her.

"It cracks me up if she has to be angry with me in a scene!" he grins. "We never argue – we're always screaming at each other at work, so we're over it when we get home!"

Sarah Ellis

You can say that again!

OUR FAVOURITE RECENT SOAP QUOTES...

"The time for delicacy is gone, Carla. You're dying, just like Hayley was – except you have the chance of survival. That is the luxury she never had. But through fear, pig-headedness or perhaps both, you have decided to spurn a golden opportunity. And if you die because of that, I will find it very difficult to forgive."

Rory's impassioned plea almost had the Inside Soap team on the blower offering Carla our kidneys. How could she argue against that?

"You reckon Tracy will outlive you?"

"Hadn't really thought about it."

"She probably will, unless a house drops on her."

The Wicked Witch of West Weatherfield will get you in the end, Steve, and your little dog too.

"Johnny boy, if you learn anything from your old man, then learn this: If a horse comes to you with a present, then you never, ever pipe in its mouth."

Danny Dyer's cockney translations of popular proverbs should be a regular feature of EastEnders.

"I can't promise that I won't hurt you in the end. But up until that point, I will rock your world if you let me."

Charity's pledge (with reservations) to Vanessa is about the most romantic thing we've heard in a long time.

"Let's see, shall we? Totally pushing to one side the fact that he's an emotional time bomb since his bonkers mother murdered half his family, there's also the other fact that he's a two-timing love rat. I sincerely hope that you and your 'uncomplicated farm boy' have a fantastic night."

Paddy's seething jealousy about Rhona and Pete is giving us life.

AS ROBERT AND AARON GROW CLOSER AGAIN, IS ALEX OUT IN THE COLD?

The spark between Robert and Aaron is reignited this week – as the former couple almost end up in a clinch.

Aaron is there to support his struggling ex as he tries to be a better father to baby Seb, and their closeness soon brings old feelings flooding back. That's bad news for Aaron's boyfriend Alex, who's fallen head over heels for the conflicted fella. But after Aaron has tried so hard to put the nightmare relationship

Robert's world has been turned upside down following the horrific crash that killed Lawrence and Chrissie, and left Rebecca in a coma. He's had to step up and be a full-time father, and that's been incredibly difficult. It's Aaron in whom Robert confides as he navigates fatherhood and the challenge of being the best dad he can be to his little boy, so when Robert needs a babysitter, Aaron offers his services – and lies to Alex about why he can't spend the day with him.

For Aaron, this one-on-one time with little Seb is eye-opening. Not only does he realise how hard Robert is working to keep it all he's very much in the present again," muses our spy. "Alex is understandably hurt, but he's fighting a losing battle. Robert and Aaron's connection won't allow either to move on."

That's evident the next day, as Aaron cooks a romantic meal for Valentine's Day, and Robert offers to help. The pair have fun as they mess about – and things get serious when they gaze into each other's eyes, and it seems they may kiss. Will Aaron betray Alex?

HAPPY EVER AFTER?

Aaron and Robert's dedicated fans will soon have reason to celebrate...

While Robert and Aaron struggle with their feelings, actor Danny Miller has revealed the news that all devoted followers of 'Robron' have been waiting for: a reunion is just around the corner!

"We like to tease [the viewers], so maybe it won't be Valentine's Day itself – but by the end of February, I think fans will be happy," he grins. "They are annoyed right now, but that's the nature of soap – keep them watching! The Robron fans are so passionate, which is amazing – what would be the point of us doing it if nobody cared?"

Alex discovers that he was left high and dry because of Robert together, but Aaron enjoys hanging out with the baby and starts to bond with him. Upon Robert's return, he and Aaron share a touching moment as they discuss their day and tuck Seb in for a nap – however, little does Aaron know that Alex has got home early and realised he was ditched for Robert.

"For a while it looked like Aaron was truly ready to leave Robert in the past, but now

The bitch is back!

WATCH OUT, SUSAN
- IZZY WANTS
YOUR MAN...

Is Susan going to Toadie's party as 90s Madge Bishop?

Women of Erinsborough, hold on to your husbands... because home wrecker Izzy Hoyland is back in town!

It's been over a decade since Izzy last stepped foot on Ramsay Street – although the Kennedys do have regular contact with her through her daughter Holly, whose father is Karl. However, when Izzy turns up unannounced at Toadie's birthday party, Susan in particular can't help but wonder about her agenda...

"This is the perfect moment for Izzy to make a comeback, as she's had plenty of time to plot her next move!" teases star Natalie Bassingthwaite, who last played Izzy in 2007.

Karl is all ears as Susan tries to explain what happened

“Returning Izzy has had plenty of time to plot her next move!”

"I can't give too much away, but Izzy's reason for coming back does involve Karl. However, her motivation isn't so much about getting back with Karl – it's more about what he can provide for her."

As you can imagine, Izzy's return isn't exactly a quiet one. She's dressed as Ginger Spice Geri for Toadie's 90s-themed party (see p32) – and ends up in hospital after Susan hits her with her car!

"It's an epic entrance!" grins Nat. "Karl and Susan are both shocked to see her – particularly the way she actually arrives. However, it's Susan who's really taken by surprise. It's a case of, 'Here we go again!'"

Izzy's appearance causes instant trouble in the Kennedy marriage, after Karl suspects his wife of deliberately knocking her down! And when Holly arrives and Susan spots her

“Bringing Izzy back to life is epic!”

Star Natalie had a ball stepping into Izzy's stilettos again...

We've been waiting 10 years to see Izzy back on Ramsay Street! Had you been approached before?

I think I've been approached to return every year since I left! I always felt the timing wasn't right. But [Neighbours executive producer] Jason Herbison has been pretty persistent over the last few years, and everything fell into place. And I loved the story idea – it's classic Izzy!

What was it like for you stepping back on to the Neighbours set?

I felt at home straight away, particularly working again with Alan Fletcher [Karl], Jackie Woodburne [Susan], Stefan Dennis [Paul] and Ryan Moloney [Toadie]. We've kept in contact since I left and our paths often cross, as Alan and I live near each other. It was quite humbling to be back where I started my career.

Do you still get approached by viewers who want to talk to you about Izzy?

Constantly! Of all the things I've done, Izzy is the one I get asked about most on the street. She's one of those characters that you love to hate, and this time round the fans will love to hate her even more!

Will there be a love interest for her?

She does hook up with someone – and it's not Karl! I had a bedroom scene, and I feel like an old hand at that now. It feels kind of normal, which is weird...

How bad is Izzy set to be?

She is outrageous – bringing Izzy back to life is epic! She's always been about causing havoc, and that hasn't changed. I returned to Izzy off the back of another series called The Wrong Girl, and the character I played in that was the complete opposite – so measured and together. I thought this was a really good time to resurrect Izzy, as they're so different.

We know this is only a guest stint, so what's in the pipeline?

There always seems to be something happening, whether it's music or launching my new children's clothing range, ChiKhi. But returning to TV has really reignited my love of acting – it's what I've always wanted to do, and I feel I've come full circle. Even my husband says that he's never seen me so happy!

Izzy is back to spice up Karl's life – but she should stop right now!

hubby playing happy families with his daughter and his ex, she can't help but feel on the outer. Is everything as it seems, though?

“It soon becomes clear that Holly has almost taken on the parental role in her relationship with Izzy,” explains Nat. “Her moral compass is more attuned than her mum's! But while Izzy's actions rarely demonstrate it, she does love Holly – and her motivation for returning is to do with her daughter.”

All will become clear over the next few weeks – and we promise it will be worth the wait! But the big questions are: what exactly does Izzy want from Karl? And is his love for Susan strong enough to survive this threat to their marriage?

Halfway salutes Whitney and Walford – but will he go through with his departure?

EASTENDERS | BBC1 THURSDAY

Sealed with a kiss?

WILL WHITNEY AND HALFWAY GET TOGETHER ON VALENTINE'S DAY?

There might finally be romance for Callum 'Halfway' Highway this week, when the love-struck squaddie receives a Valentine's Day card from pub co-worker Whitney – and assumes that she wants to become more than just good friends.

Despite the fact that Whit has already given him the brush-off and denied she has romantic feelings for him, Halfway reckons the card is a sign she's had a change of heart – so wastes no time in getting Linda to help him prepare a romantic surprise for Whitney at the Vic. But how will the bubbly barmaid react when she arrives at the pub and sees how far Halfway has gone to impress her?

"Whitney has a complicated history with the Carter men," our Walford mole reminds us. "Her marriage to Lee broke down, and she later had a brief flirtation with Mick. Whitney does think Halfway is a lot of fun, but she's wary of starting a relationship with him since he's an ex-Army mate of Lee's, and virtually considered to be one of the Carter family."

With his Valentine's Day plans in danger of fizzling rather than sizzling, Halfway begins to wonder what a fella has to do to win over Whitney. He's tried to woo her with a rose, candles and the diamond ring he swiped during the heist Mick was involved in, so he's fast running out of ideas.

"While he's not the sharpest tool in the box, Halfway is a likeable fella," chuckles our spy. "He's an old-fashioned romantic and has a cheeky charm, and we've already seen how he makes Whitney laugh. She could probably do with someone like that in her life after her bad run with men."

"Halfway is an old-fashioned romantic with a cheeky charm"

Feeling down in the dumps, Halfway is ready to call time on his stay at the Vic and bid goodbye to the Square. But having already bailed Mick and Linda out of a crisis by giving them the diamond ring, is Halfway set to steal back some of the cash?

It certainly looks that way when Whitney catches him with his hands in the pub till...

However, there's yet another surprise in store for Whit. Once she discovers Halfway is hitting the highway, she realises she does have feelings for him – and asks him to stay for a drink!

"This could be the moment viewers have been waiting for," reckons our snoop. "But with Halfway having packed his bags and headed for the Tube, it all depends on whether Whitney's left it too late to tell him how she feels..."

Is Blake going to jail?

ELLE IS SERIOUSLY WORRIED ABOUT HER SON'S FUTURE...

Blake's future hangs in the balance this week, as he appears in court charged with GBH – but things are about to get a lot worse!

While Blake sits down for his hearing with his mum and dad by his side, Elle gets a call from work to say that Miles – the lad Blake assaulted – has returned to the ED. And he's in a bad way...

"Elle is already terrified of losing her son, so this new setback hits her like a ton of bricks," sighs our Casualty spy. "She's so worried about how this could affect Blake's case that she leaves in the middle of his hearing, and rushes back to the ED. She wants to assess Miles' condition and how it could impact Blake's chances of freedom."

When she arrives at the hospital, Elle is dismayed to discover that she's not allowed anywhere near Miles, given her relationship with Blake – and Miles' mum makes it clear that she holds Elle's son totally responsible for Blake's relapse! Despite being frozen out of the teen's treatment, Elle also soon learns that his condition is so serious that he needs to go for surgery immediately.

Meanwhile, Jacob is holding the fort back in court with their son. But Blake starts to panic after Elle is called as his character reference, and there's still no sign of her! With the clock ticking and things looking bleak, Blake begs his dad to step into the breach. Will Jacob agree to tell the court what a decent lad his son really is?

“Elle wants to assess Miles and how it could impact Blake”

Justin cops a beating!

WILL HE BE THE HERO OF THE HOUR?

Justin proves that he's a glutton for punishment this week, when he makes a stand against Willow's biker mates – and gets beaten up for it!

Although Willow has brought him nothing but trouble, it's clear Justin can't stay away from her. So when he finds out that gang leader Boyd has put Willow's dad in hospital, Justin steps in to defend her...

"Justin is becoming quite protective of Willow," reckons James Stewart, who plays him. "So he decides to confront Boyd and his gang to get them out of Willow's life. During the altercation, Justin sets a trap and gets a belting on purpose – he's trying to get evidence against Boyd and his crew."

Armed with a recording of the fracas, Justin heads down to the cop shop, hoping to get the violent gang put behind bars. But will the police take him seriously?

"The officers basically throw all Justin's hard work out the window, because there's no actual proof," sighs James. "All Justin can do is make a report – which is frustrating, because he knows that Boyd and his gang mean business."

Not only has Justin taken a pummeling for nothing, but Willow isn't even grateful for his interference! However, when she decides to move to the Bay, it looks as if the pair will be seeing a lot more of each other.

"Justin is thrilled about the move, although he won't tell Willow that!" chuckles James. "There might be some romance on the cards – having said that, Justin's track record with women is not great. He needs to grow up a bit... and stick to one woman at a time!"

Sarah Ellis

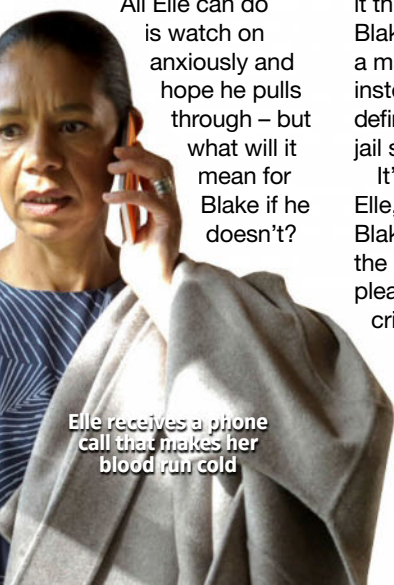

Back at the hospital, Miles heads into the operating theatre to stem the bleeding on his brain.

All Elle can do is watch on anxiously and hope he pulls through – but what will it mean for Blake if he doesn't?

"Of course, grievous bodily harm is a serious crime," our insider tells us. "If Miles doesn't make it through surgery, though, Blake will be looking at a manslaughter charge instead! And that will definitely come with a hefty jail sentence attached."

It's a tense time for Elle, as both Miles and Blake's futures hang in the balance. Blake has pleaded guilty to his crime and shown great remorse – but will all that count for nothing if Miles passes away from his injuries?

Billy tells Eva everything – and she starts to piece together the whole awful puzzle

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

Billy steals to feed his habit!

HE BETRAYS ONE FRIEND – BUT OTHERS ARE DETERMINED TO HELP HIM...

Tragic Billy spirals further into the trap of drug addiction this week – as he steals from his good friend Izzy!

After running out of tablets, Billy goes to see Dr Gaddas and begs her to prescribe a higher dose of painkillers. He has no idea that sinister Adam has been tampering with his tablets – which is why the ones the doctor gave him don't seem strong enough. However, when Dr Gaddas refuses, Billy takes matters into his own hands and is left disgusted with himself...

"Addiction is turning Billy into a person he doesn't recognise," sighs our Corrie spy. "After the horrific fall he suffered on Christmas Day, plus losing Todd and all the dramas with Summer, Billy is broken – and the pills are the only thing keeping him going. He's frankly terrified that he'll go under without them... and that's why he can't resist nicking Izzy's supply when he lays eyes on them."

Armed with Izzy's painkillers, Billy feels more in control – but there's further heartache to come. He learns that poor Summer is doing badly at school, and knows she is finding it tough to cope with Todd's absence. Fuelled by guilt and sadness, Billy reaches for Izzy's medication again, but is horrified to discover that he's accidentally sent it through the wash with a pile of clothes! In agony and desperate for a fix, he makes the foolish decision to get a fresh supply from Adam – and soon pays the price.

Fortunately for Billy, Eileen comes to the rescue. After he fails to answer his phone, she

SUMMER IN DANGER!

The lass makes a terrible decision...

Devastated Summer believes she's lost Billy after receiving a frantic call from Eileen about her foster-dad – and that leads her to make a terrible mistake.

Desperate to get back to their flat, the plucky youngster flags down a stranger, and is so worried about Billy that she doesn't consider how dangerous it is to get into the car of a man she doesn't know. If Billy knew that she was putting herself at risk, he'd be horrified – so will Summer come to her senses before the driver takes her off who-knows-where, or is Billy about to lose the most important person remaining in his life?

breaks in and finds Billy in bad shape. Eileen and Eva quickly get him comfortable and try to get to the bottom of what's going on – and both women are heartbroken as Billy tearfully confesses the hell he's been going through, and he admits his addiction.

When Eva examines the bottle of pills, she suddenly realises that her boyfriend Adam may be involved. But first she has to contend with Billy – and she and Eileen promise to stand by him as he tries to overcome his drug dependence. However, given neither has any experience of it, how much help can they be?

"Billy has a long and difficult road ahead of him, and things may get worse before they get better," warns our snitch. "He's already stolen from a mate, and he's put himself in physical danger just to get a hit. Eva and Eileen have proven they are true friends – but can they pull Billy back from the brink when he's so far gone?"

HOW WILL KIM REACT TO THE NEWS THAT THEY'RE PENNILESS?

Vincent's shock confession!

Kim has been oblivious to her husband's desperate plight – but that's about to change

The Hubbard marriage is in turmoil this week, after Vincent finally musters the courage to tell Kim that they're broke!

News of their financial dire straits is the ultimate slap in the face for his missus, who is used to exploiting her hubby's bank balance and living the life of Riley. But as Vincent is also forced to admit that his cash crisis is the least of their problems, will Kim head for the hills – or stand by her man?

"This will be a true test of Kim and Vincent's relationship," reckons our Walford insider. "She has always taken her husband's money for granted. And you do have to wonder what means more to her: their marriage, or the perks that come with it?"

"Truth be told, Kim loves Vincent very dearly – so the fact that he has been lying to her is what will hurt the most."

The story comes spilling out as Vincent crumbles under pressure from Aidan, who is forcing him to sell The Albert. With the sale dragging on, Vincent instructs his agent to pull out of the deal and go with a quicker buyer. However, as Aidan demands that Vincent cough up a down payment, he starts to really feel the strain – and knows he'll have to come up with some dosh quickly.

Meanwhile, Kim still has no idea of the extent of their money woes. So when Vincent returns home to find that she has hired Karen as their new cleaner, he has to struggle to maintain his composure. Of course, that doesn't stop his wife from going out and splashing even more cash – prompting Vincent to snap and confess the truth.

"Kim is livid, naturally – but the way she handles Vincent's admission might come as a surprise to some viewers," reckons our informant. "She's very proactive and suggests taking out a loan – and with some wise words from Patrick ringing in her ears, she agrees to go easy on Vincent. But that lasts about as long as it takes

The fact that Vincent has been lying to her hurts Kim the most

AUNT BABE

Not content with the truly horrifying results of the wicked curse she put on Walford, Aunt Babe should return with a vengeance! She could hold a Trifle Night at The Albert every other Tuesday.

him to deliver a few more home truths..."

Kim is understandably suspicious that her husband isn't telling her the whole story, so she cooks a meal to coerce him into fessing up. Soon after, Vincent is forced to admit that he's fallen in with the wrong crowd, prompting Kim to offer to sell her engagement ring. However, when Vincent refuses, she loses patience and storms off.

"Vincent attempts to build bridges with Kim the following day – and, after the two of them finally talk, she tells him that she has a plan to solve their problem," says our mole. "But Kim's one condition is that Vincent stop getting involved with all these bad people."

However, with a wolf like Aidan baying for blood at Vincent's door, that may be easier said than done. Something tells us that the Hubbards aren't out of the woods just yet...

RANT! RAVE! WE LOVE TO HEAR YOUR OPINIONS!

SAUSAGE SURPRISE

You've got to feel sorry for Johnny Carter – his departure from EastEnders was the worst exit I've ever seen! He didn't even warrant a 'doof doof'. I never got used to the second Johnny, but you'd have thought that Linda would at least have thrown a leaving party for her "sausage".

📍 | Marion, London

BABY BONKERS

Surely I'm not the only one who can see that Toyah and Eva's baby plot in Corrie is going to end in tears? How does Eva plan to keep her pregnancy under wraps for so long? Adam and Peter are bound to get suspicious, not to mention Leanne. And as much as Eva insists she's not ready to be a mum yet, something tells me she won't be handing over that baby to Toyah...

📍 | Sangita, Hull

What will they do when the baby pops out and looks like Aidan?

THROWING A PADDY

I'm so sick of Paddy in Emmerdale. How dare he have a go at Rhona for getting together with Pete when he was the one who cheated on her with Tess in the first place! He even had the nerve to criticise Rhona for bringing another 'daddy' into Leo's life. How many women has Paddy had? After everything Rhona has been through, it's about time she had some fun.

📍 | Lauren

I don't think Chas was impressed with Paddy's behaviour, either.

FALL FROM GRACE

What on earth has happened to Grace in Hollyoaks? She used to be the most terrifying person in the village, and now she's being controlled by horrible Glenn! I don't believe for one minute that someone as ballsy as Grace would let a man push her around. I think I actually preferred it when she was with feckless Esther.

📍 | Jemima

With a father like Fraser, it's no wonder Grace has daddy issues!

SUPER GRAN

I love that Sheila's going back to school in Neighbours. It shows that it's never too late to learn new things, even if you are a grandma. She's such an inspiration – I might enrol in an evening class myself.

📍 | Pauline

Let's hope Clive realises what a catch Sheila is!

CHECKMATE?

I was really hoping that the new year would herald a new dawn for EastEnders, but it's just as boring as it was last year. The biggest plots of this week involved Masood using a new seasoning in the chippy, and Ted and Patrick playing chess at the allotments. Gripping stuff!

🗨️ | Monica

At least we finally found out about all the loot from the heist...

THE GOOD WIFE

I feel really sorry for Tracy in Emmerdale. She's bang on the money when she thought that David had cheated on her – and he stood there and lied to her face! Tracy even ended up apologising for not trusting him. She'll be utterly heartbroken when she finds out that he actually slept with Leyla.

🗨️ | Hannah

And now it looks as if Tracy has a stalker to add to her woes...

BYE-BYE BAY

I was really sad to see the back of VJ in Home and Away, but I think taking little Luc away from the Bay was the right thing to do. He'll make a far better father to her than psycho Mick ever will. But I'm concerned about what poor Leah will do now she has no family left. Please don't tell me she's leaving Summer Bay too – I'd miss her!

🗨️ | Jade

Maybe it's time to bring Leah's three brothers back? They must have kids of their own by now!

VJ is taking his distracting biceps elsewhere

The BIG DEBATE!

CARLA NEEDS A KIDNEY...

Corrie's Carla certainly gave poor Roy a fright when she collapsed in the street – but at least it forced her to come clean to her family about her kidney failure. We all hope she finds a donor sharpish!

I love how Corrie are slowly breaking Carla back in. Alison King is fantastic, and it's time we saw her centre stage again! It's going to be interesting to see what happens with the kidney storyline, and where it will take Carla – now all we need is her back at the helm of her beloved factory!

🗨️ | Chris, Mitchelstown

Please tell me that Corrie didn't bring Carla back just to kill her off! I was so worried about her when she fainted – thank goodness Brian found her and told Roy. Let's just hope Carla agrees to have a transplant.

🗨️ | Sonia

It's so nice that Carla has someone as lovely as Roy to look out for her. He's been her rock since she found out she was sick – and I'm glad he persuaded her to tell her family about her illness. Mind you, it did freak me out when Carla asked Roy to marry her!

🗨️ | Cassie, Penrith

That would be a fun wedding! But Carla has more pressing problems to deal with...

I reckon Aidan will be Carla's kidney donor, as we know he's leaving the show. He'll die from complications and Carla will take over the factory.

🗨️ | John, Newport

It's brilliant having Carla back, and making her ill was a stroke of genius. She's been through so much, but this will be her toughest battle of all.

🗨️ | Kimberly, London

Can you please tell me where Corrie got the poem which Kate read at Luke's funeral? It was the most beautiful, touching thing I've ever heard in any soap, and had me in tears for the rest of the episode!

I went straight to Coronation Street star Faye Brookes (Kate) to get this answered for you, Beth – and she tells me that the poem is called Let Me Go. It's by Christina Rossetti, and it's one of the most popular poems to be read out at funerals.

THE BIG.
interview

“Am I retiring? Certainly not!”

As Sandy considers sailing off into the sunset with a new pal, real-life alter ego Freddie Jones still has plenty to do...

“Oh dear, oh dear, oh dear... Oh blimey!” Freddie Jones is in a pickle. He’s just been asked to list his favourite Emmerdale moments, and we’re not surprised the question is proving a toughie. “There are so many!” says the 90-year-old actor, who has played much-loved Sandy Thomas since 2005.

But while Freddie has adored his 13 years on the show, his time in the Dales is nearing its end. As Sandy strikes up a new bond this week, it looks set to lead to his departure from the village – and it won’t just be Laurel, Gabby and Arthur who’ll miss his wit and wisdom! There are few who could replace Ashley’s father, but Freddie reassures us that Sandy might still be back one day...

As luck Maisie have it: Sandy very quickly makes a friend of his visitor from Australia

It’s the end of an era, Freddie – we miss Sandy already! Can you tell us what it was that prompted your decision to leave Emmerdale?

Well, in my time here I’ve been gifted the most powerful and varied scenes.

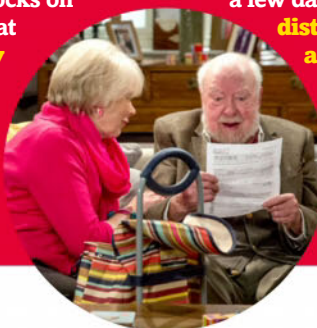

But there are two factors that come into play – one being the death of Sandy’s son Ashley, which was the great height of my existence in the show. So with his death, and with Sandy’s age, I just couldn’t see where else he’d go.

Was it a difficult choice to make?

Being on Emmerdale has been incredible. However, I was travelling three hours to get to work, with three hours back and overnight stays, and it was helping nobody. I was offered a year’s contract – but I thought, ‘How can I possibly?’ In the end, it was nothing to do with me, just the character – where can I go?

Heading Down Under?

Sandy is swept off his feet this week, when Maisie knocks on his door and reveals that she’s a friend of Betty Eagleton in Australia, and has gifts to deliver on her behalf. Maisie and Sandy get on so well that she ends up missing her tour bus out of the village and stays on a few days. Sandy is totally distraught as she finally announces she must head home – so when she hands him an envelope containing tickets for Australia, what will Sandy decide to do next?

What will you miss most about your job at Emmerdale?

Working at Emmerdale has become a friendship. People often ask me, “How do you get on with the rest of the cast?”. And I say, “No, not the cast – the community!”. The great wit, minds and humour everywhere – and I’m also going to say love. There are prolific degrees of love going around. That is what I will greatly, greatly miss.

Is working to the grand old age of 90 something you'd recommend?

Well, actors have to act, so it has an inevitability! People who don't know might think it's showing off. It's not. It's about imaginative invention – trying to make a scene fly. The simple reason is that actors don't retire, they die!

Have you ever been asked for advice by younger actors?

I was once invited to a lunch by the Duchess of Northumberland – it was a charity thing. The lad who I suppose is now the Duke of Northumberland said to me covertly, "I've been entertaining the idea of perhaps becoming an actor, what do you think?". And I just said, "I think you'll grow out of it..." [laughs]. The point of it is, everybody is an actor. Look at children, they're brilliant!

So tell us about your exit storyline – it involves the legendary Wendy Craig, who plays Maisie...

Yes, it's a delight! I mean, the ending storyline isn't funny, but it was a lovely bonus that Wendy was to play Maisie, because I've worked with her once before, on an episode of The Royal. She is a charming, delightful creature. Yesterday she told me it was an honour to be working with me, but I replied, "No, it bloody isn't – I'm honoured to be working with you!".

We asked you about your favourite moments before – but can you tell us some of your top Sandy plots?

There really have been so many! But the stories with Sandy's son, Ashley. Their relationship and the opportunity to show so many aspects of it. I also very much enjoyed Sandy's friendship with the young lad Sean Spencer, and the pirate ship scenes. But let me confess here and now that I'm not too keen on having every scene stolen by a child or an animal, and I have had that happen to me by both!

What was the best thing about playing Ashley's father?

It was a total delight. I enjoyed being

Ashley's father immensely. John Middleton [who played him] is a great actor. And I hear he's been very generous about me playing his dad. I know that he's currently on a theatre tour, so I've been asking Charlotte Bellamy [Laurel] how he's doing.

"Playing Ashley's father was a total delight – I enjoyed it immensely!"

Oh, Sandy!

Sandy arrived in the village for Ashley and Laurel's first wedding in 2005. It transpired he and Ashley had been estranged after Sandy helped his terminally ill wife to die – but Laurel and his granddaughter Jasmine were happy to have him around.

Meanwhile, Sandy and Betty Eagleton became best friends – and although he and Edna Birch started out as sworn enemies, they eventually forged a firm friendship.

Sandy was in bits when Jasmine was jailed for the manslaughter of a police officer, and his preoccupation with her fate caused problems with Ashley.

After he and Laurel split up, Ashley became violent with his dad, prompting Edna to report him. And it was when Ashley admitted his abuse that he and Sandy finally rebuilt their relationship.

Your own son, Toby (star of blockbuster movies including Captain America and The Hunger Games), has followed in your acting footsteps. What do you make of his career?

Toby is quite extraordinary – winning awards, doing such great work. But I keep telling people who admire him that he's much more than that. He is also a great man – he's a great family man who loves his family and his parents. And he's busy working for charities.

How about your other boys, Rupert and Casper?

Well, last year ended for me in a huge explosion of joy! My middle son Rupert lectures in camera techniques but is also a writer – and he was informed that a film that he had written, which is called Kaleidoscope, had got backing and would be shown. The wonderful Anne Reid is in it along with Toby. And just before Christmas I was told that The Times and The Daily Telegraph had given the movie four stars! Imagine! I was completely bowled over. My youngest son, Casper, doesn't work in the arts, but I'm so very proud of him – he works exceptionally hard.

How are you planning on spending your free time now?

Well, after telling you about this film of Rupert's, I now see clearly that my future is very rosy indeed. Apart from playing Santa Claus in a department store, I shall be able to dress up and present myself in the queue for auditions for my son's next film! The film credits will read: 'Also in the cast: Dad'...

So you've not retired, then?

No – certainly not!

How would you like Sandy to spend the rest of his days? Might we see him back in Emmerdale one day?

I can't see a reason why not! It doesn't have to be epic...

Do you intend to keep on tuning in to Emmerdale to keep up with the Thomas family antics?

I may well do that, yes!

Did your fellow cast members give you a good send-off?

There was a line in Sandy's script where he says, "Farewell party? Never!" – and I added in my own line where he goes on to say, "It'd be like attending my own wake!". But they organised a surprise party for me on the Woolpack set on my last day, and it wasn't like a wake at all. It was an absolute delight!

Living LEGEND

Freddie has been a star of the big and small screens for almost 70 years...

THE CAESARS

In 1968 Freddie played Claudius in this black-and-white ITV series, about the lives of the early emperors of Ancient Rome.

THE GHOSTS OF MOTLEY HALL

This 1970s kids drama featured Freddie as Sir George Uproar, who was leader of the Motley Hall ghosts.

THE ELEPHANT MAN

Starring alongside the likes of Anthony Hopkins and John Hurt, Freddie played ringmaster Mr Bytes in this classic movie from 1980.

DUNE

In this 1984 science-fiction film, Freddie played Master of Assassins Thufir Hawat with musician Sting among his co-stars.

THE RETURN OF SHERLOCK HOLMES

Freddie starred in the role of Inspector Baynes in an episode of ITV's 1980s incarnation of the Sherlock Holmes stories.

“Michelle is keen to know her son – but he’s a mystery!”

ALEX IS BACK – BUT DON’T EXPECT A COSY REUNION, WARNS JAMES BURROWS...

It's been a long time since Michelle Connor's baby-swap nightmare was last mentioned on the Street. And who could blame Michelle for wanting to forget that her beloved Ryan was swapped at birth with another child, and that neither family found out until the boys were teenagers?

Inside Soap always suspected there was more mileage in this complicated, heart-breaking plot... and this week our hunch is proved right. Michelle's life is once again turned upside down when she comes face to face with Ali – as her biological son Alex now chooses to be known – at the medical centre, where he's just started a new job. Ali is going to have to confront his past, and Michelle will struggle to deal with her emotions regarding her son. There's big drama ahead – which is great news for James Burrows, who takes over the role...

“I was so excited when I got the call to say I'd won the part of Ali,” enthuses the newcomer. “I've never worked on a soap before, but I had a good feeling after I did the screen test. Ali is very different to the characters I've usually played – I'm normally cast as a bad boy, the murderer or a drug dealer!”

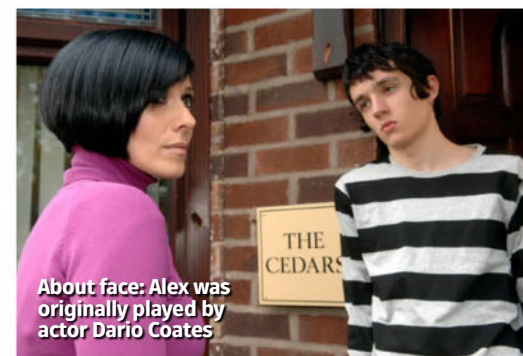

The last time we saw Ali, he was a disturbed, troubled lad who found it

Right up your Ali: Liz is stunned to spot the boy she once knew impossible to cope with the news that he and Ryan Connor had been accidentally swapped at birth. He and Michelle tried to forge a bond, but they found it too tough and agreed to go their separate ways. This week, it's Liz – Michelle's former mother-in-law – who realises who Ali is as he begins work alongside her at the surgery. So what's he been up to?

“Ali is now a trainee doctor on a placement at the medical practice – though from the outset, he makes it clear that it wasn't his choice to be in

About face: Alex was originally played by actor Dario Coates

Weatherfield,” explains James. “Ali's a bit of a mystery, and I'm still working him out myself. He's very intelligent, but not a geek. He's got a laddie side to him. I've been filming since just before Christmas, so the character is starting to unfold for me a bit more now.”

After swearing Liz to secrecy, Ali finally meets Michelle when she cuts herself at work and comes in for treatment. It's an incredibly awkward situation as the estranged duo try to navigate their first conversation in years. But while Michelle is keen to make amends, Ali keeps his biological mother at arm's length.

"He's a bit troubled," admits James. "His other mum Wendy hasn't been there for him recently, and he's very standoffish with Michelle. He gives her the impression that Wendy turned away from him after the baby swap was uncovered, but maybe he's telling a few porky pies. It seems he's been very distant from both Wendy and Michelle, though it's interesting that he's turned up in Weatherfield and that just happens to be where his biological mum lives. He tells Michelle that he doesn't want to be there – well, that's what he's saying, anyway!"

Ali makes it clear that it's not his choice to be in Weatherfield

We can't wait to get to know Ali better and to find out what his agenda is – but don't expect a handsome young singleton with bags of charm to go unnoticed by the cobbles ladies.

"I think he might have his eye on someone," teases James. "There's definitely somebody on the Street who grabs his attention!"

Meanwhile, James reckons he's having the best time. He's been working with Kym Marsh (Michelle) and Beverley Callard (Liz) so far, and will soon have scenes with the rest of the Connor clan.

"I've been welcomed with open arms," enthuses the star. "Everybody has been lovely, and Coronation Street is a great environment to work in!"

Kate White

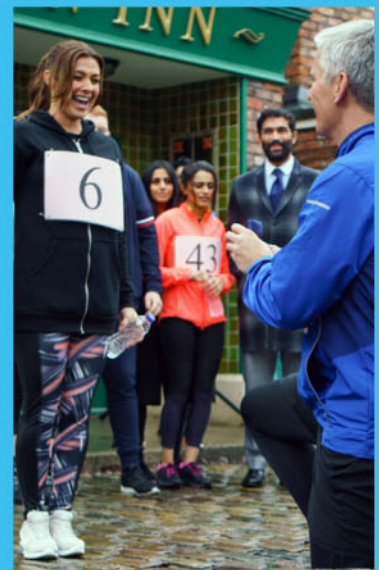

MARRY ME, MICHELLE!

Robert pops the question...

It's going to be a life-changing few days for Michelle, with Ali returning – and a proposal from Robert!

Robert and Michelle have been to hell and back together, and he knows she is the woman he wants to spend the rest of his life with. He's been amazed by her strength and loyalty, especially after his cancer ordeal and their money woes. So when Michelle excitedly tells Robert that they've paid off their debts, he decides it's time to sweep her off her feet.

Michelle has just sprinted over the finish line in the charity fun run when Robert makes his move, dropping to one knee and asking her to marry him! However, given the blast from her past that Michelle is in for later in the week, will a potential wedding be far down her list of priorities?

Electric DREAMS

HOLLYOAKS' RICHARD LINNELL
REVEALS SAD ALFIE'S PLAN TO BRING BACK JADE – BY BUILDING A ROBOT VERSION...

It may be Valentine's Day this week, but Alfie isn't in the mood for flowers and smoochy kisses. The teenager is still pining for his girlfriend Jade, who died in his arms 16 months ago after losing her battle against cancer. And as Richard Linnell, who plays Alfie, settles down for a chat with Inside Soap about what's coming up, he tells us that his character's grieving is far from over...

"Alfie has had a lot going on since Jade died, and that's kept him pre-occupied," says the star. "But his feelings over Jade's death are still there and really eating away at him. Seeing his dad Mac lying on the ground after being pushed out the same window where his brother Nathan fell to his death has definitely made him go back into that head space. He's not dealing with it very well, which is why he ends up doing what he's doing."

Window to the soul: Mac met his maker courtesy of Ellie after all his evil deeds came to light

Match Jade in Heaven:
Alfie was with his girlfriend
in her final moments

This week, Alfie throws himself into his fund-raising efforts to save the cancer wing of the hospital where Jade was a patient. With the help of his pal Milo, Alfie has been selling charity bracelets in Jade's memory – but it's not enough to help him get over his loss. So, having been haunted by visions of Jade in the wake of her death, troubled Alfie begins working on a way to have his girlfriend back by his side...

"Just before her death, Alfie filmed a load of video clips of Jade, and has now created some digital files featuring her voice," explains Richard. "He begins to get obsessed with the idea of building a robot in Jade's memory, because he wants her companionship again."

As Alfie locks himself away building his secret 'JadeBot', his family begin to worry about his strange behaviour. Can they get through to him, though?

"There are some sweet scenes of Ellie and Marnie trying to reach out," shares

Richard. "But it's someone else who ends up helping. Milo and Alfie have a heart-to-heart, and Milo wants to convince Alfie that this isn't the best way to deal with his grief. He tells him a robot will never be able to love him back."

But will Alfie abandon building JadeBot and find another way to handle his grief?

"It would be nice to see Alfie happy again in the future, because if Alfie's happy, it means I'm happy at work," grins Richard. "Crying all the time isn't nice! You have to respect the wonderful Jade and Alfie story, though, especially as it seemed to touch so many viewers. People still say how much that story touched them and helped them better understand what families dealing with cancer are going through."

"Our producer, Bryan Kirkwood, says soaps are great at starting conversations in viewers' living rooms about issues that they might otherwise feel scared or uncomfortable talking about," adds the star. "So it's the most incredible feeling in the world to hear how this storyline got a discussion going and reached the audience in the way we wanted it to."

to love him

GONE, but not forgotten!

The Nightingale family isn't as big as it used to be, given that Hollyoaks has seen off several of Alfie's nearest and dearest!

"They're dropping like flies!" chuckles Richard, who's witnessed Alfie losing his brother Nathan (Jared Garfield) and Nathan's girlfriend Rachel (Jennifer Brooke), as well as the end of their dad Mac (David Easter) and his fiancée Neeta (Amrit Maghera). "I miss them all in different ways, and I try to keep in touch with everyone as much as possible. Jared and Jennifer have both been back up to the Hollyoaks set a few times because they still have a bunch of friends up here, and whenever I'm in London I try to see everyone."

All those tragedies and funeral dramas have meant a whole lot of crying for poor Alfie, though! How does Richard get in the zone for the teary moments as required?

"I have to make myself miserable on set a lot!" he laughs. "I've compiled a 'sad' playlist on my phone, which helps me get ready for those scenes."

"I'm a very musical person, and music affects me in different ways. I change the playlist all the time depending on what's in store for Alfie..."

After 17 years on the cobbles playing Fiz – and 21 gruelling days in the I'm A Celebrity... jungle – Jennie is more than braced for your probing questions...

“Where is your favourite place to film on the Coronation Street set?”

Fiz and Tyrone's house – although it isn't really our house! It was, and always will be, Jack and Vera Duckworth's, so it's very precious to film on a set with so much history. I have lovely memories of watching that house when I was little, well before me being in the show. It's really special.

“What is Alan Halsall [Tyrone] like as a screen husband?”

“What is Alan Halsall [who plays Tyrone] like as a screen fiancé?”

I love Alan – he is the biggest wind-up merchant in the whole place! If anything funny or embarrassing has happened to me on set, it's probably down to Alan. We laugh all the time – sometimes too much – and we behave like a proper married couple sometimes as well. I make him a brew, and tell him off for putting his feet on the furniture!

“Are the young girls who play Hope and Ruby as mischievous off screen as they are on the television at the moment?”

They run rings around us! They know their lines better than us – and do the acting better than us! Honestly, they are adorable. Isabella [Flanagan], who plays Hope, had a lot to live up to as obviously her sister Amelia is in Emmerdale playing April. But she has taken to it like a duck to water. Macy who plays Ruby is a little star, too.

“Do you think that it would be a good twist if Ruby's mother Kirsty Soames was to make a return?”

That's not the first time I've been asked that question! I'd love to revisit that story, as it was so powerful, and I suppose I understand why people think it might happen. There is a good reason for Kirsty to reappear as Ruby is her daughter. I've not heard anything, but who knows? It could happen at any time!

“What were your best and worst experiences in the I'm A Celebrity... jungle?”

Being away from my little boy, Albert, was the hardest thing, but I made such lovely friends in there and they got me through it. The best moment was probably that very first episode when we walked the plank.

On the edge of glory: Jennie just missed out on the I'm A Celebrity... final

“How long did it take you to recover from the whole experience after you landed in the UK?”

Well, we got back here on 15 December and before I knew it, Christmas was upon us. On the 20th, Albert decided that he wanted a toy digger, and we hadn't properly written our list to Father Christmas at that point – so it was the first time that Santa had heard about it! He had to work very hard to get a digger in five days, but he got it. Other than that, it felt very strange eating lots of rich Christmas food after our rations in camp. Everybody from the show was messaging on our WhatsApp group saying, “Ugh, I feel sick!”.

“Where is the strangest place you've ever been recognised?”

A funeral. It's possibly the most insensitive place I've ever been recognised, but yes that's happened to me more than once. It was the wrong timing, but I understand that it was probably their only chance to say hello.

“Can you recall what you bought with your first Corrie pay cheque?”

Well, it was a combination of a few pay cheques as I saved up to buy my first car. I'd just passed my driving test, and bought myself a little Vauxhall Corsa.

Near and Farr: Jennie and husband Chris have been together for years

“What is your favourite dish on the menu at your restaurant, Annies, in Manchester?”

If I was picking a dessert it would have to be the sticky toffee pudding with custard. My husband Chris is used to catering for lots of people and he is great at making desserts – but if you ask him to make you a sticky toffee pudding, he'll make 67 of them and you have to eat them all. That's when it gets a bit tricky!

“Which of your Corrie co-stars would you most like to see in the jungle?”

...asks reader Debbie Taylor from Swansea

I'd love to see all of them! Maybe we could do an I'm A Celebrity... 'Corrie special' with the whole cast. People do keep asking me whether I'd recommend it, but the thing is: while I had a great time that year, in another year with other people, who knows?

Every week, we put your questions to a star of the soaps. Look out for requests on our Facebook page, or email your questions to youask@insidesoap.co.uk, putting the actor's name in the subject line. Our favourite question each week will win a £20 prize!

Street food: The Corrie stalwart opened her hit restaurant back in 2012

“Who was your celebrity crush when you were younger?”

I liked Howard from Take That. It was always a toss up between Howard and Jason, and I was so upset when the band split up the first time. It was only Robbie who left originally, though, so I thought that was okay as neither Howard nor Jason had gone. I shouldn't have said that about Robbie – he might be a Corrie fan!

“If you could appear in a rival soap for one day, which would it be?”

I would have to say Dynasty. There is a new series out now, but I think I'd want to be in the original version with Joan Collins. I would love one of those classic fights that she used to have!

“I have Inside Soap to thank for my Neighbours role!”

AS RYAN THOMAS SWAPS CORONATION STREET FOR RAMSAY STREET, HE'S GRATEFUL TO HIS FAVOURITE MAGAZINE FOR THE GLOWING REFERENCE...

When the soaps are looking for suggestions about who to cast in certain roles, there's only one magazine they trust enough to offer advice – and that's Inside Soap, of course! So after Neighbours executive producer Jason Herbison emailed us for ideas about casting a UK star in the Aussie soap, we knew a guy who would be perfect for the part...

Fast-forward a few months, and we're talking to former Corrie star Ryan Thomas – better known as Jason Grimshaw – about his Erinsborough guest role. And we can't resist telling him that he has his favourite soap magazine to thank for his latest job!

“Jason did actually tell me that Inside Soap was responsible for my part in Neighbours,” he chuckles. “So you guys definitely deserve a big ‘thank you’ from me! It was never my plan to come straight out of Corrie and do another soap, but this was such an exciting opportunity – I just had to grab it with both hands. I was blown away to be offered the role.”

It may have been a tantalising prospect, but Ryan had to give it some serious thought – it did mean moving to the other side of the world, after all. And that would involve being away from his nine-year-old daughter Scarlett, whose mum is Corrie star Tina O'Brien (Sarah Platt), for several months.

“Missing my daughter was the hardest thing of all,” he admits. “FaceTime is a great thing, though, and it really does make you feel that you're not missing out on as much as you think you are. Spending time with Scarlett is my favourite thing – though being in Neighbours was a fantastic experience.”

Ryan plays mysterious Brit Rafael Humphries, who appears on our screens in a one-hour late-night special at 10pm this Monday. And while Ryan doesn't want to give away too much about his alter ego, he does tell us that he had lots of scenes with one of his favourite characters...

“Rafael is very heavily involved with Paul Robinson and his family,” teases the star. “He's come to Erinsborough for a reason – he's looking for answers, but doesn't necessarily go about getting them in the right way. People may get hurt in the process, and viewers will have to work out if they think he's a bad guy or a good guy.”

Scars in his eyes: What role does Rafael's injury play in his presence on Ramsay Street?

“It was great working so closely with Stefan Dennis [Paul] – he's a Neighbours legend, and just a super-talented actor. He's someone who I really admire because he makes the job look effortless, while the rest of us find it pretty hard. It's annoying!”

One thing we know about Rafael from the picture above is that he has a huge scar on his back. What's the story there?

“The scar is part of the reason why Rafael is there,” notes Ryan. “It had to be pretty gruesome for people to understand why he is in such emotional turmoil. It was put on about four or five times, and it took two hours each time!”

Stefan Dennis [Paul] makes the job look so effortless – it's annoying!

The 33-year-old may be a soap veteran now, having notched up 16 years on the cobbles, but he admits that landing a role in Neighbours has been a real thrill.

"It's a huge part of people's lives, especially people in my age group," reckons Ryan. "I grew up watching it – me and my brothers used to get in from school and put Neighbours on. We'd sit and watch it with a bowl of cereal!"

"I never got to film on Ramsay Street, but they did take me out there to see it," he adds. "I was like, 'Wow, I'm on Ramsay Street!'. It was a great feeling to be working on the other side of the world. It gave me a real purpose."

Inside Soap is eagerly anticipating Ryan's first episode – it's just as nerve-wracking for us as it is for him, seeing as we were the ones who cast him! However, we're not the only ones who will be tuning in...

"My Corrie pals will be watching too," he grins. "Everyone wants me to do well. I know my Corrie family always have my back, and that's such a nice feeling!"

Sarah Ellis

Everybody needs good Neighbours!

Melbourne came to feel like home for Ryan...

"I've got so many friends for life now on Neighbours," grins Ryan. "Matty Wilson [Aaron] lived just round the corner from me, so I spent a lot of time with him, and we still speak to each other a lot. Everyone was amazing – they'd invite me round to their houses for dinner so I wasn't just in my hotel. It was such a nice way to experience life in Melbourne."

"Alan Fletcher [Karl] organised my leaving do – I didn't know I was getting one! There were only four people there at first, which was cosy, but more and more people turned up, and by the end it was the whole cast. It was a lovely way to wrap up my journey."

Valentine's SPECIAL!

JACK & MEL

What we say... Jack wasn't subtle about his interest in Mel recently, and we reckon she was tempted more than she let on. Now the Missing Money Mystery is sorted, Mel will be back in business... and back for Jack!

What will the neighbours say? Jack's brother Max will be furious he didn't get there first, so here's hoping Mel can resist his inevitable advances! Meanwhile, is hard-faced single mum Mel really the stepmum Jack's kids need?

MASOOD & KATHY

What we say... Masood has always had an eye for the ladies — and as he and Kathy work together at the chippy, surely he won't be too busy frying fish to clock that she's a total catch? We think straight-talking Kathy would be just the woman to knock supercilious Mas down a peg or two. Also, Nitin Ganatra, who plays Masood, has already told Inside Soap magazine that he's fully behind his character's flirty new relationship!

What will the neighbours say? Well, Mas is hardly best mates with Kathy's son Ian — it wasn't so long ago that he almost stole the bloke's wife Jane! And what will Mariam and Arshad say after all their efforts to find Masood a nice Muslim girl?

A pe

FI

MARLON & JESSIE

What we say... Tricia, Donna, Rhona, Carly. Quite how someone as romantically inept as Marlon manages to get so many great girls, we'll never know — so don't be fooled by his total incompetence at wooing Jessie. Believe us, she will fall for his charms... debatable as they are! And we think after Marlon's many broken relationships, Jessie with her grown-up job and lack of baggage could be the one.

What would the neighbours say? Marlon would get a big fat FAIL from the locals when it comes to romance — but they'd be more than happy to see head teacher Jessie give him a lesson or two in love!

WHY ARE THIS LOT ALONE ON VALENTINE'S DAY? THEIR IDEAL
PARTNERS ARE RIGHT
UNDER THEIR NOSES...

Perfect T!

NICOLA & GARY

What we say... They've proved they are compatible in a sense — one drunken fumble was all it took to produce a baby!

But while cool Nicola may not seem the type for fiery Gary, they're currently intertwined in the plan to bring down Phelan. And with that baby on the way, they're only going to grow closer. Maybe with someone smart by his side, Gary can stop making stupid decisions. And Nicola needs one thing in her life that's uncomplicated!

What will the neighbours say? Phelan will be fuming! Gary is already lucky to be alive, only because Pat reckoned he could keep him out of his new grandkid's life! Gaz, beware!

BERNICE & GRAHAM

What we say... Bernice is wasted in the Dales at the moment, deserving someone far more interesting than shallow Daz. Meanwhile, Graham is an ocean of hidden depths we can't wait to dive right into. The solution is obvious!

What will the neighbours say? Well, sister Nicola would be green with envy — but the rest of the girls would be cheering her on! The best bit of this romance, however, is that Graham has a direct line to Home Farm via Joe. Remember how at ease Bernice looked there during that weird period she was married to gay Lawrence? Maybe this is her chance to finish the job. The estate could use a woman's touch!

ROY & YASMEEN

What we say... We never really bought Cathy as a plus-one for Roy. We think she's far better with blustering Brian — but that doesn't mean we want Roy to be alone forever! Hayley's shoes are big ones to fill, though we think if someone is light enough on their feet, Roy can finally take that step forward. Clever, confident Yasmeen already seems the perfect pal for Roy, and we can see the pair enjoying gentle evenings together playing chess or at the theatre. And if romance slowly grows, we'd be very happy.

What will the neighbours say? Poor Yasmeen, with rasping Carla and bolshie Fiz as Roy's self-appointed minders, she's in for a tough time proving herself. But there's no doubt that the rest of the Street will be rooting for them.

Blast from the past

“I’ve stopped watching Emmerdale – I need to look forward, not back!”

John Middleton – aka Ashley Thomas – reveals how he’s left soapland behind for an exciting new stage role...

It’s been almost 12 months since Ashley Thomas died from dementia in the Dales. But after 20 years playing the village vicar, it gave actor John Middleton a fresh start – and he’s swapped TV for the stage to appear in a tour of the classic crime-thriller Strangers On A Train.

John hasn’t completely left the world of soap behind for his new role, though. His co-stars include Christopher Harper – who played vile Nathan Curtis in Corrie – and one-time Hollyoaks actress Hannah Tointon (Katy Fox). And when the play reaches York’s Grand Opera House next month, he will be performing in front of some of his former cast mates – including Charlotte Bellamy who plays Ashley’s wife, Laurell!

“Charlotte is a great friend of mine,” John tells us. “She’s the sister I never knew I had. It’s always good to have family and friends in the audience, but it makes me quite nervous, too – I never know what their reaction to the play is going to be! But luckily the response so far has been magnificent.”

John plays the role of Detective Arthur Gerard, who is called in to investigate when two men who meet aboard a train make a secret pact to murder each other’s most hated family member.

“My character is very different from Ashley – Detective Gerard is a hard-bitten ex-cop and he has to crack this hideous case,” says the actor. “I can tell you, it’s been incredibly exciting to develop a new character for the first time in 20 years.”

Being on stage every night means John doesn’t have time to catch up on the latest events in the village. However, he also explains that when he finished filming on Emmerdale last year, he made the tough decision to stop watching the soap.

“I realised I had to leave it all behind and look forward, not back,” he shares.

“So the only way to do that was to stop watching. I know that sounds harsh. But I think the show is in really great shape, and it’s fantastic that it is now being properly recognised in the media and at all the award events.”

So what’s next for John after Strangers On A Train concludes its run in Cardiff at the end of March? More theatre, or another move into something different?

“I don’t know yet, but that is actually part of the fun,” admits the star. “I’m up for anything, and in many ways it’s exciting not knowing what’s going to happen. But even if there’s nothing immediate, there are other things in my life that I love doing – and now I have time to do them!”

"I APPROVE OF LAUREL AND BOB!"

John may have little time for watching telly now, but his screen wife has been keeping him up to date with all the village gossip! So how does John feel about Laurel sleeping with Ashley's mate Bob Hope?

"I saw Charlotte just recently and she told me there was going to be a romantic entanglement," reveals the star. "I said, 'Oh, that'll be great', because Tony Audenshaw [who plays Bob] is such a lovely chap and great fun to work with. And actually, it's a nice resolution to that storyline, since Bob was Ashley's best friend. So I suppose Laurel and Bob are now united in their friendship over someone who's gone..."

HELEN TAKES
SOME TIME OUT
BEFORE HER
NEW ARRIVAL...

Having announced her second pregnancy in December, Corrie's Helen Flanagan (Rosie) has been making the most of a lovely break while she still can! Snapped looking bloomin' gorgeous on the sunny shores of Dubai, the star was joined by boyfriend Scott Sinclair and their three-year-old daughter Matilda as she took time away to relax. And Helen needs the rest, because she recently revealed that during the early stages of her pregnancy, she suffered with hyperemesis gravidarum, a condition that causes sickness in mums-to-be.

"I was just very dehydrated – I couldn't keep anything down because I was being sick all the time," said Helen. "I ended up in hospital and had scans, fluids and injections – I'm just so glad it's over. I don't think I'd ever be able to do it again."

Helen has clearly had the holiday blues since returning from her break, as she was pictured all cold and glum while filming – but she looked amazing nonetheless. She's not called 'Glam Flan' for nothing!

Helen enjoyed the warmer climes with her partner and daughter...

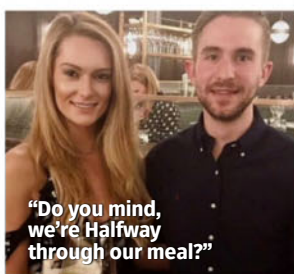

...and she had real bottle to brave the cold upon her return

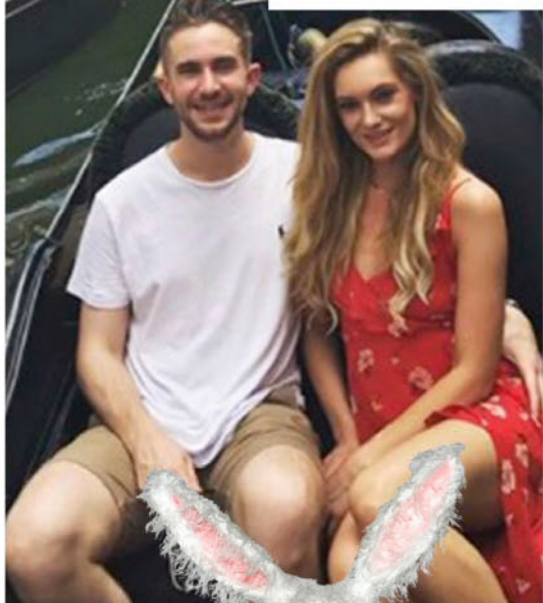

THE LOOK OF LOVE

"Do you mind, we're Halfway through our meal?"

Congratulations are in order for Shona McGarty (Albert Square's Whitney), who has got engaged to her partner of five years, Ryan Harris – on her birthday! The actress has revealed that she wants less of an East End knees-up and more of an Irish-themed affair for her wedding – before admitting that coming from a big family herself, she'd love lots of kids. And she's got a great head start on that, having taken to Ryan's kids from a previous relationship, Scarlett and Alfie, like a duck to water. Aw! Meanwhile, Shona's cast mate Tony Clay (who plays Whitney's romantic interest Halfway) is also feeling the love. Here he is with girlfriend Olivia – alternatively all scrubbed up for a night out, then dressed down for a romantic ride in a Venetian gondola.

What a gorgeous couple – no Lees or Woodys in sight!

THRICE AS NICE

They all work in showbiz together, and Flanagan twins Isabella and William (Corrie's Hope and Joseph) – plus their big sister Amelia (who plays the Dales' April) – love to spend time with each other outside of work too. The stars went to see Shrek The Musical at Manchester's Palace Theatre – and it seems they had a great time, judging by this pic of the adorable youngsters as a trio of very happy bunnies!

It was a case of sun's out, buns out for cheeky actor Matt Wilson (Neighbours' Aaron), who took the opportunity to strip off while travelling around the south of Australia. The star must have found the heat too much to handle, as he showed off his toned physique – before baring all at the top of a cliff. That's some view!

JUSTICE DELAYED

AS PEREZ DELVES INTO A NEWLY REOPENED CASE, DOUGLAS HENSHALL TELLS US WHY THE TEAM ARE HEADING OVERSEAS...

Back in 2016, the third series of Shetland shook up its previously established formula – instead of two-part stories based on Ann Cleeves’ novels, it followed one brand-new case across the full six episodes. And despite the fact that its Friday night timeslot meant it was constantly having to leave two-week gaps between episodes to make room for live sporting events, viewers remained gripped by this new approach.

So, as the series returns this week for a new run, DI Jimmy Perez and his team of investigators tackle another major headscratcher...

“The idea that the writer wanted to explore was miscarriages of justice,” explains Douglas Henshall, who plays Perez. “About the complexity within that, and the way in which people are judged – how someone doesn’t have to be a likeable person to be innocent, and that’s the main surge of the story, really.”

The potential miscarriage of justice in question concerns Thomas Malone, whose conviction for the murder of teenager Lizzie Kilmuir is overturned after 23 years, forcing the team to reopen the investigation – though Malone isn’t entirely off their radar just yet. When they search for new leads, the case takes them off Shetland entirely as they follow a trail that leads them to Norway...

“It’s a strand of the story that may or may not turn out to be a red herring,” teases Douglas. “The story came to Glasgow last time, but it’s more interesting to explore east or further north, because the Shetland Isles are more concerned with what’s around them – and what’s around them is the Faroes, Iceland and Norway.”

Douglas was pleased with the shift in the storytelling approach for series three and beyond, as he thinks it gives the show more time to develop its characters.

“Two-hour procedurals are very difficult to do anything new with,” reasons the star. “Most of the time it’s about red herrings and whodunnits, and there’s no real time to explore the people or the world that you’re in – but that’s one of the things that makes crime procedurals interesting.”

“We’ve tried to get bigger, stretch it a bit and explore it a bit more,” continues Douglas. “As long as we’re still doing it, because I like the character and there’s a lot more mileage to be had out of him!”

The Sinner

The last drama I watched was The Sinner on Netflix, which I loved. It's incredibly dark and quite disturbing actually, so I don't know if I would even recommend it – but it was brilliant! I also loved Ozark, also on Netflix, which I thought was really twisted and constantly inventive.

While I was out in Guadeloupe shooting Death In Paradise,

I really got into Big Little Lies.

I'm not normally one for binge-watching, but for that one I did – partly because the internet didn't work very well, so when I got a good signal I watched as many episodes as possible!

I'm an avid student of film history –

I want to watch every film that's ever been made!

If I had to pick a favourite I'd probably go back to one of those 70s epics like The Deer Hunter, Apocalypse Now or the Godfather films, as they're ones I can watch over and over again.

If I could be in any other show, it'd be Match Of The Day – playing! But that's not going to happen, is it? I don't know – but it would be great to be in something like Happy Valley, maybe.

If I've wanted to just relax, recently I've been watching Rick And Morty with my son, and that's great fun. It's always nice to find things that you can watch with your family, and we've really been enjoying that – it's just silly.

Talking TOSH

Alison O'Donnell talks about her character's ordeal...

One of the major storylines of series three involved the sexual assault of DS Alison 'Tosh' McIntosh. The drama received praise for not showing the attack itself, but instead focusing on how Tosh went on to deal with the aftermath – and series four won't be leaving that story behind.

"We wanted to show that she is moving on and she isn't defined by it," shares Alison O'Donnell, who plays her. "But at the same time, it's absolutely vital to us that we don't behave as if it hasn't happened."

"So there are some little trails of it," continues the star. "There are moments where something triggers her, but what I hope comes over is that she is finding her way forward. I think we've struck quite a nice balance."

regularly has us so breathless with laughter that we're considering stocking up on oxygen canisters. We love Arabella Weir as patient and sensible Beth, who finds herself hosting her ungrateful neighbours (Doon Mackichan as the monstrously

It's a show of small horizons – you know things are getting dramatic if the action ever leaves Eric and Beth's living room – but the barbed banter between the neighbours is rib-crackingly funny.

A LAW UNTO HERSELF

This new four-part series bucks the usual whodunnit trend by revealing its killer halfway into the first episode. The mystery here isn't about who killed a pizza delivery man – a case that appears to be linked to a vicar and a local MP for reasons yet to be revealed – but about why it happened and the effects the killing has on the wider community. Star Carey Mulligan, who plays DI Kip Glaspie, reveals more about what's in store...

What made you sign up to play this part?

I wanted to do something about now. I like not doing the same thing, and I've done a lot of period things so I was interested to do something contemporary. And I was interested to play this woman, who is a professional but not a dogsbody – someone who has a real backbone and is in control of herself.

There are a lot of great female detectives on TV right now – did you worry about joining their ranks?

I worry about most things, but I didn't specifically worry about that! My tendency is to see someone doing something brilliant, like Olivia Colman in The Night Manager, and then go, "Ooh, I'll do it a bit like that!". And that would be rubbish, because I wouldn't be as good. So we just focused in on who Kip was and tried to make that interesting – she didn't come out of the womb as a police officer, she's a person first and then that became her job.

You were pregnant during filming – how did that affect things?

Being pregnant was something that suddenly had to become part of the story, and that was a really nice discussion, figuring out how to do that. What I loved was that there was no, "Goodness me, he kicked!" – no pregnant acting was required! She's simply a working woman, and she's getting through it.

Baby on board: Carey's pregnancy affected the script

THE SEX FACTOR

LAURA WHITMORE IS YOUR HOST FOR 'THE ULTIMATE BATTLE OF THE SEXES'...

If the summer and the return of Love Island feel too far away, here's a show that might just help fill that gap. Laura Whitmore hosts a new format where sexy singletons (tick) head to a sun-drenched location (tick) – but here the emphasis is on competition rather than romance...

"It's the ultimate battle of the sexes," enthuses Laura.

"It's boys versus girls, set in the beautiful African savannah, and there are going to be lots of massive challenges – the crew have been out there since August setting things up! But then underlying that, all the contestants are single and very good-looking – so attractions might end up happening, who knows?"

The challenges will be a mix of physical and mental tasks

What was the biggest challenge of the role?

I was like, "No one is going to believe I'm a police officer", because they have authority and I'm scared of them! So it was about convincing myself that I'm grown-up enough, because I still think I'm 21 and the ingénue. I'm like, "Oh, I am a grown-up. Maybe I could have a proper job!"

designed to test the contestants' abilities from all sorts of different perspectives – and the results of the various challenges will determine which of the contestants will be at risk of leaving the show and being replaced.

"I've seen tapes of some of the cast, and they're so competitive!" shares Laura. "Even within the teams, the girls might not get on, or the guys might not get on. Or maybe two guys fancy the same girl, or two guys fancy each other – it could be anything! Absolutely anything could happen, and that's quite exciting."

UNDER THE KNIFE

ADRIAN LESTER AND JOHN SIMM STAR IN A NEW THREE-PART THRILLER...

In this three-part drama from Doctor Foster creator Mike Bartlett, two men's lives are thrown together in tragic circumstances. Dan Bowker's 15-year-old son Alex dies in a hospital trauma department after being stabbed, and grieving Dan considers surgeon Jon Allerton to be responsible for his death.

"Dan won't let go, and that reveals a lot about him – he's tenacious," reveals John Simm, who plays him. "We'll see how the two characters react to this one event, how it cuts between their work and their home lives. Of course, their lives are very different – Dan's life in that moment is full of grief, his marriage is falling apart, whereas for Jon what happened is an occupational hazard."

Determined to get justice for his son, Dan starts investigating Jon's life in a bid to find the truth – but how far is he willing to go?

"Dan suddenly drops a piece of information into a conversation that shows he knows a lot more about my character than he's comfortable with," shares Adrian Lester, who plays Jon. "Mike has written it in such a way that if Jon becomes too uncomfortable, Dan quickly backs off with, 'No, I just read it on the form' or, 'It's on a web page', so Jon is quickly put at ease again. But every time Jon tries to put the Bowker case behind him, something happens that brings it all back..."

Grace under pressure

DON'T Miss!

HARD SUN | BBC1 9.30PM

The pre-apocalyptic saga concludes tonight, as the team turn up at Grace's (surprisingly non-evil) house with a search warrant – and when a gun is found on the premises, they have all they need to bring her in.

"We need her to cough up before MI5 pitch up," DCS Bell spits to Hicks. "I need you to reel her in and put the fear of God into her. Land her, gut her, and fillet her." And with this show's track record violence-wise, it's hard to know if he's speaking metaphorically or not.

Grace remains cool under questioning, but an unexpected development pulls Hicks and Renko away – and towards a game-changing final sequence that suggests series two, if the BBC decides to commission it, will look very different...

CHARLES I'S TREASURES REUNITED | BBC2 9PM

During the 23 years that he was on the throne, Charles I amassed an incredible collection of art. After he was executed in 1649, however, his collection was sold off and scattered around the world. Now, the Royal Collection Trust and the Royal Academy have teamed up to display as much of Charles' collection as possible, together in one place for the first time since the 17th century. In this documentary, Brenda Emmanus finds out how they made it happen.

MODUS | BBC4 9PM

The first series of Swedish drama Modus, which aired on BBC4 in 2016, was a gripping and tense crime thriller... with a really unsatisfying ending, so we're coming back in a mood we can best describe as 'excited but cautious'. Series two begins with US President Helen Tyler (Kim Cattrall!) making a state visit to Sweden, but lurking in her entourage is somebody Inger Johanne had hoped she would never see again...

McMAFIA | BBC1 9PM

It's clear something's not right when Alex arrives in Moscow for a meeting in tonight's final episode and he's detained at passport control. After being bundled into a van and locked up, he learns that something has happened to Vadim's daughter – and while Vadim may be weakened, his reach still extends far enough to make things very dangerous for Alex.

After being informed that he's being sent back to the airport, Alex's captors take him via a suspiciously indirect route – so he makes the most of the opportunity to make a break for it the second they're distracted, leading to a claustrophobic chase sequence culminating in the Moscow Metro.

But it's only when Alex gets a chance to call home for help that he realises the true extent of his family's complicity...

ENDEAVOUR | ITV 8PM

Morse goes to the movies as a film crew arrive in Oxford to work on a horror flick – and the poisoning of a former policeman prompts Endeavour and Thursday to investigate the workings of a local cinema. When the cinema's organist also falls foul of a poisoner, the star of the film suspects the production is cursed – but Endeavour and Thursday have a more grounded solution in mind. Also this week, we'll get to meet Thursday's estranged brother Charlie.

CHICAGO MED | Universal 9PM

The hospital drama returns from its winter break tonight – and things get off to a rough start for Dr Reese when her car is broken into, which fuels her fears about the hospital's security. Meanwhile, Doctors

Halstead and Manning treat a patient suffering temporary paralysis – and when Halstead begins developing similar symptoms, they fear they may have a contagious disease on their hands.

GRAND DESIGNS NEW ZEALAND | More4 7.55PM

The New Zealand version of the show returns to remind us that tight budgets and shaky project management aren't an exclusively British concern. Chris Moller joins a couple as they try to recreate a historic villa – with a modern twist.

WIVES AND DAUGHTERS | Drama 12PM

Settle in for a full afternoon of Victorian romance and social climbing as this six-part version of Elizabeth Gaskell's novel airs in full. Justine Waddell stars as Molly Gibson, whose life is drastically changed when her widowed father remarries.

Hail Caesar

JULIUS CAESAR REVEALED | BBC1 9PM

"Hang on a minute," you might think at the beginning of this documentary, "why is Mary Beard in a hospital wearing scrubs? Isn't this a history show?"

Ah, but she's there to witness a Caesarean section – named after the Roman dictator who was reportedly birthed via this method, though Mary points out that it's more than likely a myth. However, she's also there to make a wider point about how Julius Caesar's legacy lives on today and influences our world more than we might realise.

During the programme, Mary explores how Caesar rose to power, and why his story is so frequently invoked in discussions of modern politics. She'll also be revealing the ways in which he changed Rome, and how he made it happen...

THE WORLD'S MOST LUXURIOUS AIRLINE | Channel 4 9PM

While budget airlines compete to offer the most affordable no-frills service, at the other end of the scale firms are vying to become known as the world's most luxurious air-travel experience. This documentary gets exclusive access to Singapore Airlines, as they set about creating a deluxe first-class suite for super-wealthy travellers. When you're targeting the world's pickiest passengers, everything needs to be exactly right – so will the clientele give it their seal of approval?

DARA O BRIAIN'S GO 8 BIT | Dave 10PM

Dara's videogaming contest returns for a third series, with his regular gang of Ellie Gibson, Steve McNeil and Sam Pamphilon. Tonight's contenders are Gregg Wallace and Jodie Kidd, whose first challenge is arcade classic Spy Hunter, where some frankly terrifying driving skills are on display. Perhaps they might fare better with the more sedate pace of Total War: Rome II?

ER | CBS Drama 8PM

The award-winning medical drama that launched the careers of George Clooney and Julianna Margulies returns from the very beginning. It's John Carter's first day on duty in the Emergency Room, and it's not going to be easy...

DYNASTY | CBS Drama 10PM

And as if ER wasn't enough of a treat, there's also the chance to go back to the start of the 80s oil and shoulderpads saga. Tycoon Blake Carrington is preparing to marry his former secretary Krystle – but she's having second thoughts.

BACK IN TIME FOR TEA | BBC2 8PM

It's 1945! And the Ellis family are returning to their newly done-up home, full of excitement about the possibilities that lie ahead – although having grown quite fond of her back-to-basics kitchen, Lesley hopes it hasn't changed too drastically.

The good news is that the coal-fired range has gone and been replaced by a much more convenient gas cooker – but the bad news is there's still no sign of a hot water tap.

Sara arrives to hand the family their guide to the new era, along with a gift of two chickens to help supplement the family egg rations – and the family decide to name the chickens Sara and Polly. But until the chickens start contributing, Lesley has to make Yorkshire pudding with foul-smelling 'egg substitute'...

Child's play

WHAT WOULD YOUR KID DO? | ITV 8PM

The game show that tests how well parents know their children continues – with more kids facing challenges disguised as real-world scenarios while their parents do their best to anticipate their offspring's reaction. Don't worry though, it's all scientific: "The various set-ups on this show were devised by expert child psychologists," confirms host Jason Manford. "It was great to see the parents' genuine shock – because everyone thinks their own kid is a little angel!"

TATTOO FIXERS: VALENTINE'S SPECIAL | E4 10PM

What becomes of the broken-hearted? And, more to the point, what becomes of their romantic tattoos? In tonight's Valentine's Day special, Glen helps drag queen Riley to become even more of a diva, and Alice is asked to conceal a naughty Cupid. Sketch will be helping out client Jordan with a proposal, and Jay ensures that a "feminist faux pas" is no more.

CHICAGO FIRE | Sky Living 9PM

There's new hope for Dawson in her search for Bria tonight, but can she and Casey locate the missing girl? Meanwhile, Severide is pleased when his old friend Chief Grissom resurfaces for a fund-raiser, but his happiness is short-lived.

999: NHS RESCUE SQUAD | W 10PM

This new series follows the Hazardous Areas Response Team of the Yorkshire Ambulance Service, who treat patients in extreme situations. Tonight, the team race to rescue a tanker driver trapped in his cab after a collision.

DAMNED | Channel 4 10PM

The eternally overstretched staff of Elm Heath Social Services return for a second series of the dark comedy tonight. The challenges in front of them include finding out whether a sex worker is operating from home while her kids are there, dealing with know-it-all student social worker Mimi, and getting some smelly puppy poo off the bottom of Rose's shoe.

"Mimi is a kind of reminder to the time-servers that they're not quite as great, efficient or as up-to-date with life as they thought they were," explains co-creator Jo Brand, who also plays Rose. "And Al has decided that he's a bit jaded and he wants to get out. That runs through all the episodes, so you have to wait until the end to see if he does or not..."

£1 HOUSES: BRITAIN'S CHEAPEST STREET | Channel 4 9PM

This three-part documentary follows a bold experiment by Liverpool City Council, where derelict houses are being sold for £1 each. The catch? The buyers must fund the renovations themselves. Plus, if the works aren't completed within 12 months, the council can reclaim the properties without compensation. Tonight, Mel and Rob are determined to make a tight budget work – but gun violence in the area gives them second thoughts.

BLISS | Sky One 10PM

Stephen Mangan stars in this new comedy as travel writer Andrew, who has two long-term partners – and neither of them is aware of the other's existence. Not only is it unethical, but it's pretty exhausting, too – so how exactly did he get into this self-made mess?

"He's made a lot of small decisions which are motivated by a desire not to upset people," explains Stephen. "It's a kind of cowardly niceness – we're all guilty of that from time to time. Sixteen years ago, he took the easy route rather than fessing up, and now he has two partners, two kids and a highly stressful life."

"When I first heard the premise, I thought it might be gross and about this guy boasting about getting all the girls," admits Heather Graham, who plays Andrew's wife Kim. "But then I read it and I instantly loved it. I love the perspective of the show and the way David [Cross, the writer] makes fun of Andrew rather than saying he's cool. The women in Bliss are very sympathetic – you feel more for them than you do for Andrew."

TAKEN | 5USA 9PM

This new US drama takes the film trilogy of the same name as its inspiration and acts as an origin story for Bryan Mills (Liam Neeson's character in the movies). Tonight, Mills is determined to exact revenge for the death of his sister.

CHILDREN WHO KILL | ITV 9PM

Susanna Reid heads to the USA for this documentary – part of ITV's ongoing Crime And Punishment season – to meet inmates who were children when they were convicted of murder, and to explore whether they should ever be freed.

Thanks to a 2015 Supreme Court ruling, juveniles who were given 'death in prison' sentences now have renewed hope of getting out one day – but what would this mean for the families of their victims?

In the film, Susanna meets Joshua Phillips, who was jailed for life after killing eight-year-old Maddie Clifton when he was 14. She asks him about his life inside prison, as well as finding out how Maddie's mother and sister are fighting to keep Joshua behind bars permanently.

SEA CITY - SUNDERLAND | BBC2 8PM

The series about Britain's cities on the water returns for a second series, and our first destination is Sunderland. The city's skyline is set to change with the construction of the first new bridge over the River Wear for 40 years, and river pilot Baber Abidi is in charge of getting the new central pylon to the construction site. The 114-year-old Roker Lighthouse is also getting a new look – and the grandson of a former keeper reveals some of its secrets.

MY WONDERFUL LIFE | Sky One 9PM

Mortality can be a tricky subject to tackle, but this sensitive new series does a fine job as it helps people with terminal illnesses to prepare a lasting legacy for their loved ones. The first subject is Ian Edmunds, who died in June 2016. He lined up a treat for his cousin Gary at the site of the first Slade gig they went to, and guides his wife Christine back to the spot where he proposed.

FROM ICE TO FIRE... | BBC4 9PM

In this new three-part series, physicist Dr Helen Czerski explores the scientific hot topic (sorry) of temperature. In tonight's opening episode, Helen challenges our perceptions of what the word "frozen" actually means.

RED DWARF | Dave 9PM

Here's a six-pack of classics from the Dwarf to celebrate the spacecom's 30th birthday. They include series five's Back To Reality, where the crew discover they've been playing a virtual reality game for four years – or have they?

FIRST DATES VALENTINE SPECIAL | Channel 4 9PM

The pressure at the First Dates restaurant is never hotter than on Valentine's Day – so can Fred and his team ensure a clean sweep for Cupid tonight?

First through the door is hairdresser Dominique, whose clients have advised her not to swear too much or laugh too loudly. Her date for the evening is mortgage adviser Buddy, who turns up to the restaurant fresh off the phone to his nan. They're a chatty pair and the early chemistry bodes well – could this be an all-time great date?

Elsewhere, 30-year-old Isaac is worried that he's lost his mojo with women, and is hoping his date will be curvaceous with great dimples. His date is single mum Maya, who admits to having very high standards – so let's hope he meets them...

REQUIEM | BBC1 9PM

Matilda thinks she's uncovered a clue that will force the police to take her seriously, but Aron Morgan gets there first with a complaint about Matilda approaching Davey at school, prompting PC Graves to give a final warning for harassment. There's a silver lining though, as Kendrick starts to show signs of believing Matilda. Meanwhile, Trudy remains haunted by her part in Carys' disappearance, and decides it's time she and Matilda had a talk.

EVERYTHING SUCKS! | Netflix

Netflix did great business via the 80s nostalgia of Stranger Things, so can this new 90s-set comedy tap into a similar sweet spot? It takes place in Boring, Oregon (it's a real town, you can Google it!), where the outsiders of the school audio-visual club negotiate adolescence from behind their cameras. The growing pains here are keenly observed, and the 90s soundtrack caps it off nicely.

FIRST TEAM: JUVENTUS FC | Netflix

This new documentary offers behind-the-stands access to the famous Italian football club. It promises insights into the players and coaches who make up Juventus FC, and will be following the club through this 2017-18 season.

JAMESTOWN | Sky One 9PM

Silas' betrayal of the Pamunkey has repercussions, as they look for a way to make the Sharrows appreciate their grievance. And Christopher tries to bring himself up to Jocelyn's level by getting involved in the town's politics.

ALBUM

JUSTIN TIMBERLAKE – MAN OF THE WOODS

Ten-time Grammy winner Justin Timberlake is back with his blockbuster fifth studio album. Featuring new single Filthy, it combines classic American rock with the modern influences of collaborators such as Alicia Keys.

For the chance to win a copy, tell us who plays the Bay's Justin: A) Ray Meagher or B) James Stewart. Text ISPRIZE2, a space, then A or B and your name & address to 84988 (50p). Or see below for postal entries.

STAR CHOICE

Hollyoaks' Sophie Porley (Ellie)

"I watched the Netflix film Okja recently. It was quite hard-hitting as I'm a vegetarian, but I think everyone should watch it – the message is an important one. I don't know how anyone could eat meat after watching it, really. It's clever how the film is fictional, but makes a point about the meat industry – and it was brilliantly made, too."

The younger Barton brother is a shadow of his former self next week, as Ross struggles to cope with his injuries following the horrific acid attack. But while Pete tries to help his sibling, it seems there's no going back for the baddest boy in the village. Will Ross ever surface from his terrible nightmare?

CORRIE

Sad, mad – and bad?

Jenny feels like a spare sock in a knicker drawer next week, as the Connors close ranks and leave her out in the cold. So Jenny seeks comfort elsewhere – but which Street fella does she turn to?

EASTENDERS

The change of life!

Tina is forced to think about her choices in life – and considering the only romance she's had lately is with Billy Mitchell, there's a lot to mull over! But what will the outcome be?

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

We would have taken against Josh even if we didn't know what he is going to do to poor David Platt. He's slimmer than the oil slick on his head.

It's about time we knew what the plan was for Frank. This is Robin of piggin' Sherwood, for goodness' sake! A former Dynasty star! Give him a plot!

BULLSEYE!

Unlucky-in-love Pete and Rhona might not have been the most obvious pairing for an Emmerdale romance, but they are officially Inside Soap magazine's favourite new couple! Stars Anthony Quinlan and Zoe Henry have such amazing on-screen chemistry that we find ourselves going a bit giddy and fan-girlly every time they have a scene together. Paddy who?

Bernadette was charged £17 for haddock and chips twice in a backstreet chippy. Forget Aidan's heist, that is actual daylight robbery!

We love EastEnders fixing another absurd plot choice by having Denise and Kim suddenly take DNA tests. The whole 'they're not really sisters' story was a proper load of nonsense.

It was sweet of Ross to help Robert with parenting, and for Robert to gratefully thank him in return. Y'know – what with Ross shooting him that time.

Luke had more of a presence at his own funeral than he ever did in his three years mooching about the Street. What a waste!

Fancy that: Jack flirting with Mel. How unexpected. We'd never have guessed, etc... (Well, she is just a gruffer version of his last wife.)

When someone eats the last Jaffa Cake, but puts the box back in the cupboard.

You have to hand it to Tracy Barlow. She's played the long game, but she finally has Steve right where she wants him.

Well, thank God Cain and Moir got back together in the end. If she'd turned him down for the zillionth time, we would have gouged our eyes out with a spoon.

YOU USE IT TO FACE THE DAY WE USE IT TO FACE CANCER

Self-esteem is important to all women, it just happens to be in sharper focus for those who have cancer. That's the reason Look Good Feel Better exists. We have been helping to combat the visible side effects of cancer treatment for over 20 years through free confidence-boosting skincare and make-up workshops across the UK and worldwide.
